FISH CREEK
ANIMAL HOSPITAL

The mobile navigation will be very similar to the navigation for the desktop site. The primary navigation bar will be the only one available until the user makes a selection, then a subnavigation bar will appear. Active coloration will remain the same as well. This will create unity with the desktop site, and help people navigate between devices. However, the closeness of the buttons make them hard to press for some users.